WILLIAM AND MARY DEFEATS VIRGINIA; SCORE 17-6

To Form Virginia Academy of Science

For the purpose of effecting a more comprehensive scientific organization to be known as the Virginia Academy of Science, the Association of Virginia Biologists will meet in Williamsburg April 26. Following this meeting the biologists will hold their annual meeting at Williamsburg April 27 and 28.

Those sponsoring the organization of an Academy of Science, together with the special fields they represent, are: Graham Edgar, University of Virginia, chemistry; B. G. Childs, Randolph-Macon College, education; H. D. Campbell, Washington and Lee University, geology; Joseph E. Rowe, College of William and Mary, mathematics and physical science; W. F. Rudd, Medical College of Virginia, medical science; G. O. Ferguson, University of Virginia, psychology; and Frank Bane, State Welfare Commissioner, sociology.

Those interested in the movement believe the advantages of an Academy of Science to be three fold. Stimulation of interest in the work of its members, closer co-operation among the more isolated scientific workers of the State, and an effective organ for the support of public welfare measures which all departments of science wish to support. A partial survey of scientists in Virginia, not including such specialists as bacteriologists and engineers, shows approximately 300 persons eligible for mem-

William and Mary Alumni Association Now Incorporated

The William and Mary Alumni Association is now a corporation under the laws of the State of Virginia following the granting of a charter to it recently by the State Corporation Commission. The incorporation of the Alumni Association is in accordance with a resolution adopted by the alumni at their meeting during Finals of last year when Professor O. L. Shewmate was named as chairman of a committee to secure a charter from the State.

The name in which the charter is granted is "The Alumni Association of The College of William and Mary in Virginia." The officers at present are as follows:

President—Walter E. Vest, Huntington, W. Va.

Vice-President—Channing M. Hall, Williamsburg, Va.

Secretary—Wm. T. Hodges, Williamsburg, Va.

Treasurer—W. C. L. Taliaferro, Hampton, Va.

The Board of Managers is at present composed of the following members: Walter E. Vest, Wm. T. Hodges, W. C. L. Taliaferro, Channing M. Hall, J. E. Wilkins, Frank Armistead, R. C. Young.

The Board of Managers held its first meeting on April 6, when it elected Mr. J. E. Wilkins, of Newport News, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Honorable Norvell L. Henley. Mr. O. L. Shewmate was at the same time designated to act as attorney for the Board.

The charter is similar in several respects to that of the University of Virginia alumni association, from which it is modeled to some extent. While the Board of Managers have active control of the affairs of the corporation, the exclusive ultimate control is vested in the active members. The eligibility clause is as follows:

"All persons who shall have been regularly matriculated students at the College of William and Mary in Virginia and who have spent not less than two hundred and forty days in actual residence at said College, and whose connection therewith shall not have been severed by reason of any act which in the judgment of the Board of Managers reflects upon the moral character of person in question, and who shall not at the time of becoming a member intend to return to the said college as a student in the academic session thereafter ensuing, shall be eligible to active membership in the Association. . . . The Board of Managers may also admit to honorary membership, without voting power, persons whom by reason of conspicu-

Robert Southall Bright Gives Southall Papers To William and Mary

Deposits Collection of 40,000 Manuscripts In Fireproof Vault of Library

Robert Southall Bright, formerly of Williamsburg, but now of Philadelphia, has deposited in the library of the College the George W. Southall papers, a collection of about 40,000 manuscripts. Mr. Bright has taken advantage of the offer of the College library to receive private collections on deposit, with the understanding that such collections will be kept in the fireproof vault in the library.

Mr. Southall was a prominent attorney of Virginia ninety years ago, practicing in the whole Tidewater section. He was very methodical in his business, preserving all his records and correspondence, and the many historical papers of importance obtained by him. Some of the papers are dated as early as 1710. There is, of course, very much that relates to Williamsburg and James City County of 100 years ago, invaluable for research purposes, due to the loss of all the James City official records before 1865.

The total number of additions to the library for the past year is about 5,000 books. The library is now receiving regularly about 400 current periodicals. There are no mediaeval restrictions as to the use of the books, students being free to examine the books on the shelves. The library is, therefore, an open shelf library not for a few but for all, and the students are duly appreciative of the privilege. The addition to the library, which will be completed about June 1, will have a capacity of storing about 150,000 books, and will be sufficient for the growth of the library for several years.

Finally Break Two Years' Jinx For Decisive Victory

Shaking off the jinx of two year's standing, Coach Driver's William and Mary nine pounded four Virginia pitchers for a total of seventeen hits, including four doubles and a home run, which, interspersed with passes and errors, netted the Indians 17 runs while the best the University boys could do with the deliveries of Thompson and Saffelle was 7 hits and 6 runs.

Jim Driver, whose resignation at William and Mary takes effect in September, accomplished one of his fondest desires today when his team succeeded in giving his alma mater one of the worst defeats she has received on the diamond in years. For the past two years the Indians have piled up big scores in the early innings of the Virginia games, only to have the Virginia players snatch victory out of defeat in the ninth inning.

Thompson, who started on the mound for the Indians, was a trifle free with his passes, but allowed only six hits during his five innings. Thompson hurt his knee sliding home in the sixth and gave way to Saffelle, who held the University boys safe for the rest of the game, striking out three men in the last two innings.

Hubbard, with a single and a double in five attempts, led the stick work for Virginia, while Lowman with only one error in ten chances and several stops, featured the fielding for the University nine. For the Indians, Hicks, connecting safely three times out of four trips, Denton three in six, and Lowe two in four, one going over the left field fence for the circuit, featured. Hicks' running catch of Parrish's fly ball in the second inning was the fielding feature of the day. The box score follows:

RAISE GYM FUND
BY MAY 12

Celebrate Monroe Day April 28

Monroe Day will be observed at the College April 28 with a formal procession and with an address by Guy D. Goff, of Washington, assistant to Attorney-General Daugherty.

James Monroe was a student at William and Mary in 1776, when he decided to join the Continental Army. The rest of his career is history. Monroe, Jefferson and Tyler represent William and Mary's contribution to the presidency.

In view of the fact that the anniversary of Jefferson's birthday, April 13, will be celebrated at the University of Virginia as Founder's Day, simple exercises at the assembly will mark the occasion at William and Mary. The president of the Senior class will read the Declaration of Independence, which is a continuation of the custom of a half-century, when commencement fell on July 4, and Jefferson's immortal pronouncement was peculiarly the order of the day.

Invitations to attend the Monroe Day exercises have been issued to the descendants of James Monroe, as well as to the friends and alumni of the College.

Downing Raises $68 For. Gym Fund

George A. Downing, a Senior, has raised $68 for the Gym Fund. His success in raising this amount in the short time is comparable with his success in raising a larger sum in the former drive for the Men's New Dormitory. The Gym Fund Committee trusts that other students will follow in his footsteps.

Easter Dances April 27 and 28

Jan Garber and his Garber-Davis Orchestra will be with us again on the 27th and 28th, at which time the Cotillion Club will hold its regular Easter Dances. The late date at which the dances are being held is due to Mr. Garber's inability to be here sooner, and the Club deemed it wise to make the dates to suit his convenience rather than "trust to luck" as was the case with the Mid-Winter's.

The celebration of Monroe Day by the College will be held in Jefferson Hall on the afternoon of the 27th, but, contrary to a former report that the celebration would interfere with the dance, there will be no interference; a number of students have volunteered to assist in moving the chairs from Jefferson Gym after the Monroe Day exercises.

Those who have visited other schools recently where Garber was playing say that he is making better music than ever. He has added another piece to his orchestra since he was here at Thanksgiving.

President Moncure, of the Cotillion Club, has already received a number of letters from alumni and friends who expect to be here for the Easter Hops. The Monroe Celebration will bring a number of visitors to the College, and the Club expects these dances to be the biggest in the history of the College. And in addition to the regular dances Friday and Saturday nights, there will be the usual dansant Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6.

Judge Feidelson To Give Address

Judge C. N. Feidelson, Professor of Journalism, will deliver an address before the regular meeting of the Council of Jewish Women of Newport News on Thursday evening of this week. The topic of his address will be "The Critic." This will be the first of a series of four lectures on "The Modern Voice" to be delivered by Judge Feidelson. The proceeds realized from the lecture will be turned over to the philanthropic fund of the Council. Judge Feidelson recently made a tour of North Carolina and Georgia cities and delivered several lectures.

The total subscriptions pledged for the Gym Fund is $1068. This week will no doubt swell the fund to double the amount already pledged.

Philomatheans Con- tribute to Fund of Colonial Echo

The Philomatheans at their meeting Saturday night, April 7, installed officers for the Spring Quarter.

Outside of the installation of officers, the meeting was entirely a business one. The Society voted to turn over its portion of the general fund of the literary societies to the Colonial Echo to meet the deficit of that publication. The society also voted the tennis team $25.00 to enable it to participate in the Middle Atlantic Tournament and guaranteed its share of any deficit that might be incurred in bringing John Powers, celebrated American pianist, to William and Mary for a piano recital.

Phoenicians Discuss Current Events; Good Program Tonight

A live general discussion of current events featured the meeting of the Phoenix Society on Saturday night, April 7, each speaker being limited to three minutes.

W. H. Graveley gave a declamation and Strickler a reading. Several matters were settled, and the president appointed Strickler (Chairman), Ramsey and Graveley as the Executive Committee of the society.

An interesting programme is expected tonight and all members, both active and honorary, are urged to be present.

Tennis Team Meets Hampden- Sidney Today

UNION THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY MONDAY

The Tennis Team will meet Hampden-Sidney here this afternoon at 2:30, in the first collegiate match on its schedule. On Monday it will cross rackets with the strong Union Theological Seminary team. The matches will be played on the Tennis Club courts adjacent to Cary Field.

Close scores are expected in each of these contests as both Hampden-Sidney and the Seminary are particularly strong in tennis. Hampden-Sidney has recently made tennis a major sport, while the Seminary's team of last year, which is still intact, beat V. P. I. and Richmond. The Theological match is expected to be the hardest one to be played here.

Pollard, Wilshin, and Cline will meet the visitors in singles, while Pollard and Wilshin, and Cline and Peterson will pair up for the double sets.

The match, which was pending with University of Virginia, has been cancelled, but the match pending with V. P. I. has been definitely added to the schedule.

Norfolk Tars Defeat Indians

Nine free passes and three hits off Stephens and a circuit drive by Brandon off Cox, who relieved Stephens in the second inning, gave the Norfolk Tars eleven runs for the first two innings and a lead the Indians never threatened. The final count was 14 to 5 in favor of Skipper Clark's boys. After his team mates had evened up the count at four all in their half of the first, and two were gone in the second, Stephens went up in the air, walking six men in succession. With bases loaded, Cox took up the burden on the mound. Brandon cleared the bases for the new hurler by raising a long drive over left field wall. Cox then settled down and the Tars could do little until the sixth, when a base on balls to Kelliher and a drive over left field wall by Gibson, Babe Ruth of the Lincoln, Neb., Club last year, gave the professionals their last scores.

The Indians scored four times in the first on a walk to Cooke, a double by Lowe, a pass to J. Chandler, a sacrifice by Saffelle, a safety to Denton on Watt's error and F. Chandler's three-base ply to deep center.

William and Mary doubled again in the fifth when Denton singled, stole second, came home on Lowe's Texas leaguer to right field. But for the wildness of Stephens there was little difference in the playing of the two teams. Otto Lowe was the individual star for the Indians with a double and a single in four attempts at bat and a perfect day in the field, handling six chances without a bobble, two of them being unusually hard chances. Brandon's stick work, a circuit drive and a double in three times up, accounted for six of the visitor's runs and lead the field in hitting. Cobb, a former Indian, made a hit and two runs in three times up.

Score by innings:

William and Mary400 010 0—5
Norfolk471 002 0—14

Summary: Home runs—Brandon, Gibson. Three-base hits—F. Chandler. Two-base hits—Brandon, Lowe, Todd. Sacrifice hits—Saffelle. Stolen bases—Lowe, Denton. Double plays—Denton to Hicks to Cooke (2). Left on bases—William and Mary, 7; Norfolk, 2. Base on balls—off Stephens, 9; off Cox, 1; off Jones, 5. Struck out—by Stephens, 1; by Cox, 2; by Jones, 2; by Zellers, 4.

Girls Track Team Making Progress

If Miss Thelma Brown is as successful in coaching women's track this spring as she was in coaching their basketball last winter, she will put out a good team. Forty women have signed up so far, and more are coming out each day.

"Considering that the women have access to the field only twice a week, and that just about half of the women who have signed up are coming out, we are making good progress, declares Miss Brown.

Hurdling, high jumping, distance throwing, broad jumping, and running, are now in order. Field Day will be held about the middle of May.

Faculty Baseball Schedule Growing

After an almost futile search, Manager Voke has succeeded in securing two opponents worthy of his team's steel. In these contests, from which it is expected that the varsity will pick up many points, the faculty athletes will have as their first opponents the scintillating stars who represent the Banker's League. The slugging ability of the Faculty ashmen has caused such commotion in the ranks of the enemy that one clause of the contract allows the Bankers to import a twirler. It is somewhat doubtful as to who will be the visiting boxman, but if he stops the slugging pranks of the Faculty outfit he will indeed be an embryonic rival of Waite Hoyt or Walter Johnson.

Possibly the more dangerous of the two games is the one with the Alpha Phi Epsilon Fraternity nine. But the faculty feels quite confident of winning the game as several members of the opposing team are in need of credits.

Practice has indicated that the toll of years has left intact the uncanny fielding and the mighty swatting of the Faculty. Pitcher Gwathmey's good right arm is rapidly rounding into mid season form while Catcher Zehmer is pegging them to second in a way that would make Ray Schalk turn green with envy.

A large attendance is expected, for various reasons. The games will be held on April 20 and on April 28. The admission will be 15 cents and the proceeds will go to the Student Gymnasium Fund.

COLLEGE SPIRIT

The question of college spirit has been discussed many times during the college year, but every student seems to have defined it by its conspicuous absence from the student body. The failure of securing any concerted action on the part of the students as a whole is a testimony to the fact that something is lacking in the student body, whether it is the lack of college spirit or whatever it is. Some students decry the emancipation of the freshman class; others criticize the administration, and a few students denounce the college as a form of sport. What the students ought to do is to offer some constructive criticism and evolve some plan whereby more college spirit can be created and the students can be joined together in bonds of common interests and purposes. Crucial times have made heroes and leaders, perhaps leaders will be developed from the present state of affairs.

The most plausible suggestion is to limit the freshman class and to induce the upper-classmen to remain at college a longer period than they do at the present time. The college is becoming too pronouncedly a freshman institution. The central group, the upper-classmen, is being swept out at the end of each college year. There is no group composed of students actuated by common interests and motives around which other groups can be built. Psychology of the group mind argues that all organization must have a central group around which other groups are built and about which a composite group can be formed.

NEXT TRACK MEET

We hope that the next track meet held at the College will not be monopolized by a minority of the students by so crowding around the scene of the track events as to bar the majority of the would-be spectators from witnessing the performances, for which many pay their admission fee. Those in charge of the track meet should remind over-anxious spectators to show enough courtesy to give every one an equal chance to see the different events.

ACTIVITIES FEE

A certain proportion of the activities fee is allotted to each publication, literary society, the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. These fees are collected by the treasurer of the College and the bills of the different activities are paid by the treasurer. It seems that the better plan would be to place the allotted amount in the hands of the treasurer or other designated officer of each college activity at the beginning of the year, and make such officer responsible to an auditing committee appointed either by the administration or by the student body. Such a policy would expedite the payment of all bills and would relieve the College of all responsibility. The different activities would know the amount each had for meeting the expenditures. Under the present custody of funds the different College activities do not know how much they will receive from the student body, consequently they undergo a great handicap each year.

College Graduates

"According to statistics compiled by the National Catholic Welfare Council, college graduates making up only 1% of the national population, comprise more than 50% of those who achieve leadership in the various walks of life. From a mass of data it was computed that with an elementary education the chances for success are 1 in 41,250; with a high school education, 1 in 1,508; and with a college education, 1 in 173."

Education

"Out of nearly five million uneducated men and women in America, only 31 have been sufficiently successful in any kind of work to obtain a place among the 8,000 leaders catalogued in 'Who is who in America.' Out of the thirty-five million people with as much as a common school education, 808 were able to win a place in the list, while out of only two million with high school training, 1,245 have manifested this marked efficiency, and out of one million with college or university training, 5,768 have merited this distinction. That is to say, only one child in one hundred and fifty thousand has been able in America, without education, to become a notable factor in the progress of his State, while the children with common school education have, in proportion to numbers, accomplished this four times as often, those with high school education 87 times as often, and those with college training 800 times as often."

Class In Business Statistics To Make Practical Application To Local Conditions

The newly organized class in Business Statistics, taught by Mr. Fichtner, is planning to make a practical application of statistical methods by studying local conditions at the College. There is a field for original research work in this study which should prove valuable, not only in the study of the principles of applying statistical methods, but also in the interesting comparisons which may be made. A statistical survey of local conditions may uncover some startling information concerning the tendencies and influences governing the student's life. The co-operation of the student body in supplying information necessary in compiling such data will greatly assist the class in its efforts.

Summer Quarter News

The Bulletin of the Summer Quarter recently issued shows a considerable enlargement in the scope of the work covered by the Summer School. The courses of instruction are more complete than heretofore, that is in so far as the variety of courses offered is concerned. The corps of instructors is larger and in addition to the 32 members of the College faculty who will conduct classes during the summer quarter, there are 12 other instructors from other schools, all of whom come well recommended in their particular lines of work.

In addition to the instructors listed in the bulletin, Dr. K. J. Hoke, Director of the Summer Quarter, announces that he hopes to secure the services of Miss Marian Carswell, of Winnetka, Illinois, to demonstrate the individual method of instruction in the Demonstration School. Miss Carswell did work of this sort last summer in the Teacher's College, New York. Dr. Hoke also hopes to have in the Demonstration School two critic teachers from the City Normal School of Richmond.

Dr. Hoke calls particular attention to the following courses which are being offered during the summer quarter: Preparatory courses will be conducted in English, Latin, and Mathematics, intended especially to meet the needs of those students who are twenty years old or more, and who do not have the necessary college entrance units, or, for those students who have had the equivalent of four years high school work, but who do not have the necessary units for entrance to college work. Special arrangement is being made for the completion of the whole of Analytical Geometry during the summer session. Students who wish to take advantage of this arrangement may do so by taking two hours a day in this subject.

Another interesting feature of the summer quarter program is the provision made for the training of teachers in the instruction of sub-normal children through the courses in the psychology of sub-normal children, and in the methods of teaching in special schools. The instructor in this branch of work here will be Miss L. Doris Wilcox, M. A., of the University of Pennsylvania, who is director of Ungraded work and Mental Testing in the Public Schools of Norfolk.

Instruction in Public Welfare Work is to receive special attention through a course in Modern Social Problems, conducted by Mr. Tucker Jones, and a class in the Legal Aspects of Public Welfare, under Mr. C. N. Feidelson.

All courses offered in the summer quarter leading to teachers' certificates are of college grade and will be offered by persons with training of college standing.

John Powell, Noted Pianist, Coming To College

John Powell, a noted American pianist-composer, has offered to give a concert here on April 23, provided sufficient interest and support is shown on the part of the students. Mr. Powell, although comparatively new to the concert stage in America, has rapidly grown in favor, not only here but in Europe, where he has toured extensively during the past few years. He is now considered by American and European critics to be the greatest virtuoso in the world. His offer to play here should be considered a remarkable opportunity, especially since the students of the college are at a great disadvantage in availing themselves of the concerts given in the large cities.

Mr. Powell has offered to reduce his usual fee by one-half, the cost of which must be guaranteed before the concert is given. The literary societies have promised to do their share, and if the fraternities and other organizations on the campus would help, the expenses should be easily defrayed.

Manless Dance Hectic Success

Much Liquor In Evidence

Saturday night marked an epoch in the social history of the College. The manless dance given by the Co-eds has been the most talked of affair since old Thomas Jefferson knocked his last home run for the Indians. Never has the gymnasium known the presence of so many sons of Araby! Sheiks? We'll say they were! In appearance they were perfect, in technique they showed evidence of either keen observation, or extensive practice. As typical college he-vamps, their conduct deserves only the most favorable comment.

Believe us or not, those gentlemen were well acquainted with their herbs. They knew exactly how much not to drink, which amount is far too small to mention here. The latest barnyard strut, the most recent development in the way of a hefty cable, the last—the very latest in parlor-wrestling, all these social accomplishments were brought into play on the momentous evening of Saturday last. What good would the possession of these rare talents effect if there were no inclination to exercise them? Reader, don't get nervous; both the inclination and the opportunity to follow it were in evidence. The girls were as responsive as the Sheiks could have wished, so little comment on them is needed, though some will be volunteered. Lieutenant French represented the Army, and acted in the approved shore-leave manner. The same may be said of Cadet Bryant, who cut such a figure with the better half that it is surprising how he escaped with any of his forty-five souvenir buttons.

Looks were as charming as Co-ed determination could make them, and gowns showed rare taste and discrimination. The girls evidently came to have a good time, and had no intention of departing disappointed. When the time for breaking-up actually did arrive, there was not one sad or bored face among this motley throng. At the reasonable hour of eleven-thirty, the tired little tots ceased playing and trotted off to bed. Good-bys were exchanged and the manless dance became but a memory.

Not at all as an epitaph or as a postscript, but as a means of impressing it on your minds do we make comment on the music the last. Garber-Davis would have thrown up its hands in despair if it had listened to the dizzy strains the old College Five pulled out of those instruments Saturday night. Don't get us wrong, Reader, we mean from envy, not from shock! Those jazz-hounds spoke a forkful with their fingers, and what we mean, they were mean lunch-hooks!

Viewed in perspective this manless dance had more kick than it sounds like, and as a means of showing the Eds what the Co-eds think of them, it is to be heartily commended.

New Bon Fire Sport Is "Swiping" Cows

That borrowing a cow for any purpose, however honorable, is a dangerous pastime, has been discovered by two enthusiastic celebrators of William and Mary's victory over the University of Virginia, Friday night.

Perhaps it was natural that the Irate Owner of the cow should have objected, but this thought had not occurred to her abductors until it was brought to their attention by the town sergeant. In the meantime, labelled

EACH WEEK A DELIGHTFUL SURPRISE

Final Contest Between Men's Literary Societies Soon

Only a few short weeks remain before the final contest between the literary societies will be held. Students expecting to participate should begin work at once on their respective selections, for preparation ought to be well under way before time for examinations draws near. If the same interest in the work is maintained this year as heretofore, with the additional material to pick from the coming contest may promise to be one of the best ever held. Members of either of the men's literary societies are eligible to participate. Students who have not yet become members still have an opportunity to join.

Not only will participation in the contest count towards an English credit, but gold medals will be awarded to the winners. There will be three events—oration, declamation and debate. The question to be debated will be announced within a few days.

Minstrel Presented In Norfolk Friday

The William and Mary College Minstrel Show, which was presented at the Blair Junior High School Norfolk, Friday evening, April 6, was, according to the Virginian Pilot one of the best amateur productions of the season. The boys gave a new line of songs and jokes which went well with the crowd. The minstrel was given under the auspices of the Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church.

The minstrel closed with a burlesque musical comedy, featuring Misses Margaret Hundley, Dorothy Wilkinson, Marie Ebel, Louise Shipp, Gertrude Ebel and Caroline Hill and Messrs. Winston Irwin, Howard Cain, Dicky Charles, Walter Robinson, R. Reid and Ray Andrews. Music was furnished by Sam Simmons' Orchestra.

At a recent meeting of the Association of Virginia Biologists, D. W. Hoyt, of Washington and Lee University, was elected president; D. W. Davis, of the College of William and Mary, vice-president; and W. L. Dolley, of Randolph-Macon College, secretary-treasurer. Additional members of the Executive Committee are J. I. Hamaker, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, H. E. Hayden, University of Richmond, and I. F. Lewis, University of Richmond.

According to Dr. D. W. Davis, of the College of William and Mary, a local committee is being organized to take care of arrangements, entertainment, and such matters. Dr. Davis asks the co-operation of all who are interested in welcoming the guests and helping make their stay pleasant. Details of program and entertainment will be announced later.

INDIAN SPASMS

An irate subscriber to the New York Times, being seriously offended at an editorial that had appeared in that journal, went to the Times office and demanded to see the editor. The clerk told him that the editor was busy but he could see Mr. Ochs, the owner. The infuriated visitor replied, "I don't want to see the ox that owns the paper; I want to see the ass that writes the editorials."

COWS AND COCOANUTS

A leading evolutionist recently wrote W. J. Bryan a letter in which he sought to prove the descent of man from the lower animal by referring to the many similarities between the human body and its functions and those of the lower animals. Mr. Bryan replied that the argument was not at all convincing and said that the evolutionist could with equal propriety claim that the cow descended from the cocoanut because they both give milk. The evolutionist replied, thanking Mr. Bryan for the comment, and stating that hereafter when he drank a glass of milk he would think of the cow, the cocoanut and the Commoner.

"Spark Plug," she had proved quite the feature of the celebration as she ambled through the streets of Williamsburg and around Jefferson Hall in the care of her proud abductors. At the end of the greatest moment of her bovine life, an occasion which made up for years of grazing and cud-chewing, she was returned in entire safety to her stall. Here the Irate Owner found her almost as soon as he missed her; he was so remorseful because he had confided her loss to the ears of the law since her captors had treated her so kindly and had shown her such a good time, that he called off the Long Arm of the law and they all lived happily ever after.

Biology Club Meets

The regular meeting of the Clayton-Grimes Biology Club was held on Monday evening, April 9. Interesting talks were made by Prof. W. E. Davis on the "Endocrine Organs," and by H. T. Harrison on "Pasteur, the Man." After the meeting, refreshments were served.

In addition to these two talks, the annual trip to Dismal Swamp was discussed, and plans made for the excursion, which will be made April 27 and 28.

ous service to the College they deem fitted therefor . . .

The purposes for which the association is formed are stated in the Articles of Incorporation as follows:

" . . . To aid, strengthen, and expand in every proper and useful way the College of William and Mary in Virginia and its work, and to develop, strengthen, and utilize the bonds of interest, sympathy, and affections existing between the said College and its alumni, and among the alumni themselves."

A noteworthy feature is that in addition to strengthening the organization of alumni and the bonds among them, the charter also creates a trusteeship for trust funds, devises, and bequests, such gifts as might not otherwise become available for the use of a State institution. A Board of Trustees, five in number, which will be perpetual, is provided for. This Board will hold, manage, and invest all gifts or bequests made to the Alumni Association for the use and benefit of the College. Many gifts will thus be secured which would otherwise be lost through lack of any trustee or board of trustees to hold such bequests subject to the wishes and direction of the donor.
